

INCREASE ATTORNEY AND STAFF PRODUCTIVITY, BOOST BILLABLE HOURS, AND IMPROVE CLIENT SATISFACTION.

The Billable Squeeze

PBworks can help attorneys minimize unproductive (and unbillable) overhead. Documents and research become searchable (even via smartphone) cutting down the time required to find relevant information. PBworks also provides project management tools to better coordinate attorneys and staff so that work proceeds more smoothly, with less rework and fewer delays.

The Changing Client Relationship

PBworks helps law firms get closer to their clients. Client extranets and case/matter management extranets allow law firms to grant their clients far more visibility into their cases and matters. Built-in chat and teleconferencing makes it easier for clients to communicate quickly. And PBworks client engagement monitoring lets attorneys know what documents and information their clients have and haven't reviewed

The Knowledge Management Challenge

Rather than bolting on knowledge management, PBworks builds it right into the standard work process. Each case or matter becomes a part of a searchable archive. Meanwhile, legal research can be stored and shared in wikis, rather than on individual attorney's desktops. This makes it easier for members of the firm to contribute to a shared resource, reducing the chance that attorneys "re-invent the wheel" with their research, and preserving knowledge even if attorneys leave the firm.

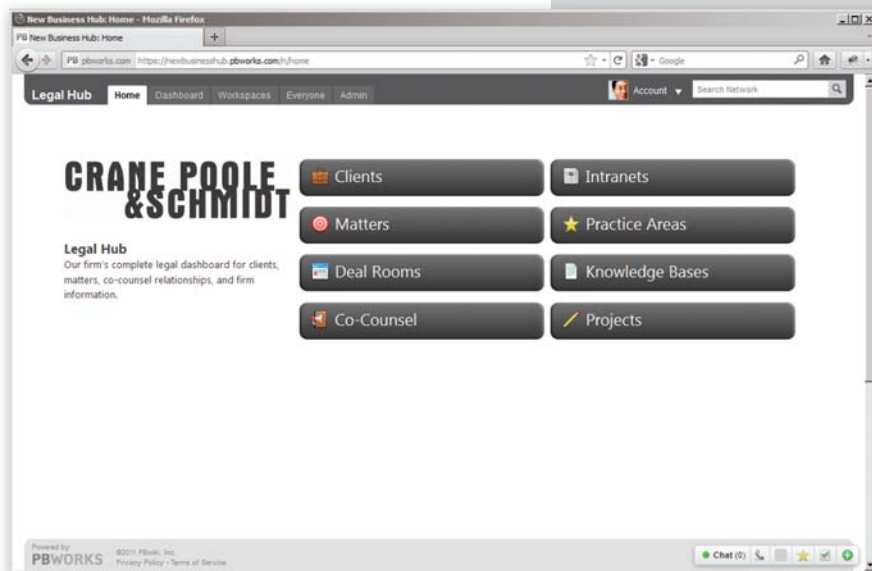

Combating Commoditization

Ultimately, PBworks offers law firms the opportunity to formalize and systematize their unique approaches. A law firm can build PBworks into a client relationship and case management system that plays to that firm's particular strengths, while the depth of the firm's research knowledgebase can be another selling point. Showing a client all the information that a firm's attorneys can find with a single search can help convince the client of both the firm's depth of knowledge as well its ability to work more efficiently than its competitors.
